S.A.D.D. Message to impaired drivers

DON'T LET THIS BE YOU — Pleads Elana Yaremkevich, organizer of the F.G. Miller High School chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk. The tragic record of fatalities and injuries from alcohol-related vehicle accidents has prompted high schools across the province to start SADD chapters.

A crumpled car graced the front lawn of F. G. Miller High School Friday morning, with a lumpy body bag stretched beside it. Many motorists slowed down to witness the apparent tragedy, and pedestrians paused to read the placards adorning the vehicle.

The students and staff of FGM and their families have not experienced the horror of losing a loved one in an alcohol-related vehicle accident—YET. The organizers of the newly formed chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) are hoping that they never will.

FGM Students Union President Elana Yaremkevich was among students from all areas of Alberta who attended a conference in Edmonton earlier this spring aimed at reducing the number of fatalities and injuries caused by impaired driving. She and the other delegates returned to their schools determined to get chapters of SADD started in their schools.

Only six students so far have joined Miss Yaremkevich in the promotion of this lifesaving cause. Pointing out a bulletin board display of posters of grads clustered around a coffin, a teenager with a horribly scarred face, and one proclaiming that 'Last year, 7514 students stopped drinking and driving,' she said 'all we can do is hope that these displays will make people think.'

While there have not been any student deaths in this area to date, some of the schools attended by other teens attending the Edmonton conference have not been so lucky, 'and we don't want anything to happen here.' SADD is 'not telling you that you can't drink—we just don't want you to drink and then drive.'

The new SADD chapter had help from Denny's Auto Body and Yewchin's Funeral Chapel in setting up the lawn display, and Miss Yaremkevich is grateful for this assistance from the community in 'helping to get things going.'

With no SafeGrad program in place this year at FGM, the need for this message, and that to be given by pre-graduation speakers scheduled for May 17, is more acute than ever. And, Miss Yaremkevich hastens to point out, the heartfelt request that people not drink and drive is 'not just for students—it's for everyone.'

Town Council

Ball diamond use delayed

Elk Point Town Council dealt with a lengthy and varied agenda Monday night, oblivious to the warm spring evening outdoors and the NHL playoff game on television as they debated committee recommendations and studied the future needs of Elk Point citizens.

Hopes that the recreation land ball diamonds would soon be available for use were dashed, with a recommendation from the Recreation and Cultural Board that signs be erected prohibiting use of the facilities until the grass planted last fall has time to become established. If there is sufficient rainfall to encourage growth, the diamonds could be in use later in the summer.

Plans to retain a consultant for a feasibility and marketing study for a new Community Services Centre were tabled until the steering committee can meet with personnel of Alberta Public Works, following a suggestion in this regard from MLA John Drobot.

Mayor Bruce Kleeberger and Town Council voted unanimously to proclaim May 15 to 21 Tourism Awareness Week in Elk Point. Tourism is viewed as an important part of the local economy, and of the economy of the province and the country.

Brian Derewynka was appointed to represent the BPO Elks Lodge on the Tourism Action Committee, taking over the position formerly held by Rick Lazaruk.

Council agreed with a recommendation from the Personnel Committee that all six positions approved under the Summer Temporary Employment Program be filled at this time, in addition to one position for a recreation worker. Three SEED positions of a 7 week duration will be filled at the end of June.

Approval was given to go ahead with the survey of town land to be traded for a portion of a residential lot on which a lane encroaches, after which a bylaw for partial closure of an area designated as roadway will be prepared.

Two items dealing with Cicon Engineering Ltd. were on the agenda, and Ron Chrapko of that firm will be invited to meet with Council to discuss these.

A letter of resignation from FCSS Director Marnie McCowan was reviewed by Council, with a subsequent motion of acceptance. Ms McCowan will be thanked for her years of service in the FCSS Department. The FCSS Board will be asked to consider the hiring of a new director at their meeting later this week, with their decision to go to the Personnel Committee, and the position to be advertised if appropriate.

The FCSS Board will also review applications for the SEED position of Community Youth Worker, with wages set at $4.50 per hour.

A final draft of FCSS Administration and Policy Guidelines was reviewed by Council and will now go to the FCSS Board for their review and comment.

With all students now relocated to the remodelled facilities of the Elementary School, the Community Services Centre Management Committee was given the go-ahead to approach the tenants who were displaced to make room for Board of Education use last fall, to extend invitations to return to their former locations. One classroom will still be required for school-related storage until the end of June,

WATER SUPPLY GRANT — M.L.A. John Drobot presents the final instalment, in the amount of $15,030.37, a grant for water treatment equipment to Mayor Bruce Kleeberger. The funds come from the Alberta Municipal Water Supply and Sewage Treatment Grant Program.

Chamber

Busy summer

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce looked forward to a busy summer at last Wednesday's regular meeting. In addition to tourist booth activities, plans were set to take part in the Great Participation Challenge during Fiftweek and to host local farmers at a Farmers' Day Barbecue.

Two Summer Temporary Employment Program positions have been approved for Tourist Information Centre workers, in addition to the grant available through Lakeland Tourist Association for senior citizens working in the booth. These positions will be advertised immediately.

The Chamber also plans to open the Tourist Information Centre for the duration of the Victoria Day weekend, using volunteer labor. More volunteers

PTA date changed

The May meeting of the F. G. Miller Junior-Senior High School Parent-Teacher Association will be held next Wednesday, May 17, at 7:00 p.m. rather than tonight, for this month only. Please mark this change on your calendar and plan to attend.

FCSS hosts regional workshop

Elk Point Family and Community Support Services hosted a very successful regional workshop for child care workers last weekend, with almost thirty participants in attendance from Bonnyville, Grand Centre, Medley, Lac La Biche, Westlock, Medley and Elk Point.

The ladies were welcomed at Friday evening's wine and cheese reception by FCSS Director Marnie McCowan, who organized the conference.

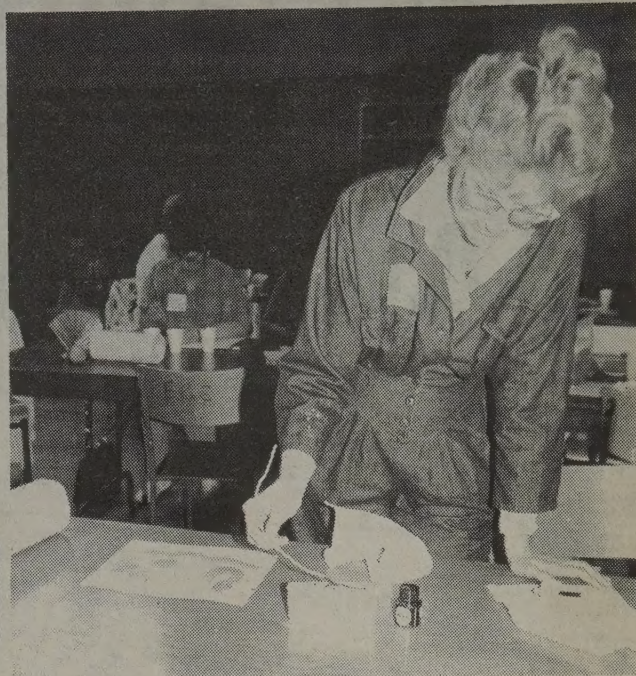

Much of Saturday was devoted to a workshop encouraging creativity in children, under the imaginative and talented leadership of Alberta Culture and Multiculturalism resource person Pam Godderis. Hands-on involvement was encouraged, with participants making 'containers for an emotion' during the morning session, and later trying innovative 'paints' ranging from instant coffee to white glue on a variety of unusual surfaces, with the use of tools such as medicine droppers, feathers and water pistols, as artistic imaginations were given free rein. Representatives from Elk Point Public Library and Elk Point Scouting Association also took part in the sessions.

An evening buffet dinner in the Empress Banquet Room was followed by displays of fashions by Daphne Schnurer of Tops'n'Trends and sun and funwear from Macleods, makeup by Marilyn Palmer of Aloe-te Cosmetics, nails by Lucinda Stanley of the Westbrook Hair Gallery, crafts by Karen Swedgan of Creative Collections, silk plants by Karon Hanson of Totally Tropical Interiors, and toys by Judy Trudell. Then each participant was allowed to 'realize her wildest dream' with the presentation of personalized cartoons created by local artist Billie Milholland.

Sunday wrapped up with a Chinese food smorgasbord, which followed an upbeat address on creating a positive image and feeling good about oneself, by Gloria Leonard of Cold Lake. Ms. Leonard, Ms. Godderis and perennially hospitable restaurant owner Jean Slywka were presented with plaques honoring their parts in the most enjoyable weekend event.

Council was told.

Elk Point's Animal Control contract with Rohdrin Kennels will be renewed for a third year, with no changes in the rate schedule.

Liability insurance coverage for volunteer firefighters and their equipment will be reviewed, with the information to be provided to the Public Safety Committee, the Fire Chief and Council.

A possible opportunity to diversify the economy with an agriculture-oriented business development was discussed, with the Administration to contact the firm to determine if they are interested in further information regarding locating a business here.

A future need to remove a further quantity of aggregate from the southwest corner of the recreational land was discussed. It was decided to send a letter to the Golf and Country Club regarding this. If the material is removed, it will be done in a manner which will permit reclamation of the site so as not to adversely affect plans for future redevelopment of the golf course.

Council agreed to hire four census enumerators for the June head-count of Elk Point residents.

Parking concerns were addressed in three areas of town. A heavy concentration of parked vehicles near the Further Education building has been noted during the time the building is in use, and curbs are to be painted to indicate areas where parking is not permitted to allow motorists a view of the intersection. Parking of heavy vehicles near residences was noted in two cases, with subsequent complaints of noise and diesel fumes. In both cases, the offending vehicles were found to be operating within the Town's bylaws.

CLEAN UP WEEK — Activities included the annual 4-H Highway cleanup. Here, members of the Elk Point 4-H multi club, along with parents and friends, collect debris along Highway 41.

Hire-A-Student opening May 17

Elk Point's Hire-A-Student office will be opening next week. Wednesday, May 17, from 12:00 noon to 1:00 p.m. has been set for the Grand Opening of the office, to be located in the Town Office again this year.

Maureen Trefanenko, an employee of the St. Paul Hire-A-Student office, will visit Elk Point every Thursday afternoon, beginning May 18, to take registrations from both potential employers and employees.

The St. Paul office is now open, and students seeking summer employment can call 645-4428 to register, or may wait to fill out the necessary forms when the office in Elk Point opens.

Chamber plans events

are needed for Saturday, Sunday and Monday, May 20 to 22, and anyone who is interested may call Billie at 724-3886 or Vicki at 724-4087.

After last year's excellent response to the Great Participation Challenge, it came as a disappointment to the Chamber that no plans were being made for a similar event this year. Following discussion, it was determined that a smaller-scale event could be held, with a minimum of effort, on Wednesday, May 31. Many Elk Point residents have not tried out the new hiking trails at the Town's Recreation Land, and tours of this scenic area could highlight the event. Other suggestions included a wiener roast and golfing. The Chamber voted to donate $25 toward the wiener roast, and other donations would be most welcome. Watch for posters regarding the event. This year's Town Challenge ball game between those age-old rivals, Elk Point and St. Paul, will be held on St. Paul's home turf this year, the Chamber was told.

Another event which drew good response last year was the Chamber's Farmers' Day Barbecue. It was agreed to hold this for a second year, with Chamber members to bring along their rural friends, and to supply steaks for themselves and their guests. A tentative site for the barbecue is the Golf and Country Club.

The Chamber's next meeting will be held during Tourism Awareness Week, and it is hoped to have a guest speaker from the Lakeland Tourist Association in attendance.

Thoughts on motherhood

What does it mean to be a mother? For sure, it's a lot more than the physical act of giving birth, and the subsequent series of soggy diapers, grimy faces and scratched knees that lead to teenage temper tantrums, first dates, and final exams, at which point the cycle starts again.

Motherhood — it's the Mysterious feeling which sweeps over you when a miniscule hand curls around your finger for the first time...

It's the Outrage you feel when a speeding driver roars down your street when your kids are out riding their bikes, still wobbly on their training wheels...

It's the Time you spend walking the floor in the dead of night with a teething baby, enjoying the feel of the warm little bundle in your arms as you despair over the pain that must be endured...

It's the Hopes and aspirations you have for your children, as they grow and mature toward becoming part of the adult world...

It's the Energy you dredge up from somewhere to make the three dozen cupcakes you discover at bedtime that your child needs to take on the school bus for the class party tomorrow...

It's the Rascals you find calmly sitting on the table in a drift of spilled cereal digging their fingers into the peanut butter jar and looking oh, so innocent...

It's the Horror which strikes you when you hear anguished screams from the basement and are almost scared to go see what disaster has happened this time...

It's the Opportunities for togetherness which being part of a loving family can afford, no matter how limited their financial resources...

It's the Occasions when you see your children as others see them, faultlessly attired in tuxedo or graduation gown, and your heart is ready to burst with pride...

And it's the Day you see your child tenderly embracing his or her own firstborn, and a whole new field of emotions becomes part of your life...

Have a very special day, all you mothers out there.

Congratulations to dance club

Dear Editor:

Last Wednesday was a perfect example of a good solid community spirit in our Elk Point High School, at the 10th Annual Ukrainian Dance Concert. The stage was vibrant with music, beautiful and handsome faces and very, very talented footwork. It was a pleasure to watch a mixture of nationalities co-operate to provide what was definitely a very entertaining evening.

Congratulations to the parents for all their support and to the instructors for their capable teaching, and most of all to the children and adults who performed.

It will be my pleasure to make their "Welcome Bread" for many more years.

MOTHERS TEACH, AND PROTECT AND SCOLD — But mostly they love.

Alberta Trails

That day again

By Irene Magnusson

That DAY, or course, being Mother's Day, this one selected time in all the year when we are expected to salute our Mothers - your Mother and my Mother - with calls, cards and consideration.

This is the day, of all days, when you must get on the bit and ring that phone, even if you have nothing to say, so tradition tells us; when there should already be a fat, expensive, mushy card in the mail, full of sentiment, flowers and lace. For those so inclined, there will be boxes of chocolates (even if she is border-line diabetic), bouquets of flowers, pictures of the kids, and so forth.

Some of us may even think back to our childhood, when our Mothers were of utmost importance in our lives. (I'm thinking long before daycare, kindergarten at age two, back when of course mothers looked after their kids). Remember this verse?

Who ran to help me when I fell
And would some pretty story tell
Or kiss the hurt to make it well?

My Mother.

This is how I see my Mother. She could tell the most spell-binding whoppers, long-winded stories, especially about "when she was a girl" or "back East" or stories her Mother told her. Enough to take your mind off a measly bee sting, scratched kneecap, or fall out of a tree. Then, if she was in a very big hurry, busy at her endless tasks, she might, as the poem says, kiss the spot to make it well. I must admit, this worked better on the very young, of which there were always a lot, in the home I was raised in.

I don't pretend to remember every word of it, but the poem goes on:

Who taught my infant lips to pray,
To walk in wisdom's pleasant way
Who guarded o'er me night and day?

My Mother.

I suppose this means all those endless axioms she hurled at us day and night: "A stitch in time saves nine," as she made us patch our rips, darn our socks, sew on our buttons. Or "Pride goes before a fall," if we went to bragging, or showing off. There were dozens of them - maybe hundreds - and all had their little sermon attached. I don't know if they made better people out of us. I do know I remember them, even though they became boring as the years passed by.

I also remember the hovering figure in the long flannelette nightgown, there in the yellow lamp light, spooning in Pinex, rubbing on Vicks Vaporub, or bringing the hot water bottle, wrapped in a towel, for my aching legs. Or aching tooth. I can see her pacing the floor, shushing the colicky baby, so the rest of us could sleep, or filling blocks into the wood heater when winter bit in, and the old log house creaked in the cold. Mothers, we knew, were supposed to look after us.

There is another verse to that old poem, which probably did NOT come in the original - but we learned it too:

Who took me from my nice warm cot
And put me on the cold, cold pot,
Whether I wanted to or not?

My Mother.

And I guess this signifies that Mothers DID know what was best for you, and had ALL your needs and wants in mind. It translated into the occasional swack on the butt, too, nowadays considered "child abuse" but a very necessary element, in turning the heathen that children are born as into civilized, bearable people. I can't say I much resent any discipline my mother handed me. She did her level best. Just as, I'm sure, she would have challenged a mad bull, to save us from harm, so she tried to fit us to live in society, smoothing our edges as best she could.

Now, I will move, as a mother myself, to the other end of the deal. I really have no longing for my kids to honor me on a special day, even if it does sooth their consciences. It's nice to hear them any other day. I appreciate the cards or letters they send, but what am I to do with a huge satiny card, far too nice to throw away after, but where to store them all?

I think what Mothers would like, at whatever age, is a bit of respect. Unless they are VERY old and infirm, they are still capable of knowing what's going on, of taking an interest in things about them, most of them are able to do something of use, to themselves or for others. If you always say, "No, I don't need you," when they offer to help, it soon gives them the idea that you think they are useless, worthless, and unwanted - and that's not a nice feeling to have.

I always (I hope) let my Mother dry dishes, set the table, swat the fly, shell peas, whatever - when she came

Letter to the Editor

Hats off to teachers

Dear Editor:

Hats off to the teachers, parents and students who worked so hard to make Education Week, April 23-29 a huge success.

The week was fun packed with science fairs, book fairs, open house, public speaking, pancake breakfast, hands on computer demonstrations, evening of the arts - drama and music, and L.W. school presentations, all of which the public enjoyed.

I was very proud of the enthusiasm and effort our schools put forth. Thanks to the participating businesses who displayed the students work. You all deserve a hand. Thank you.

Janice VanMaarion
Elk Point
School Board Representative

to my house, even when she was into her nineties. I walked with her, at her pace, whenever I could. I talked TO her, not only AT her. It wouldn't hurt you a bit to speak slowly, or a little louder, or to her face, instead of over her head. Just show a little respect. You might like some yourself, one of these days, as time goes by.

On behalf of Mothers, at any age, may I say, everyone wants to be visited, everyone wants to be included, everyone wants to feel needed. And this includes Mothers. Anyone and everyone is stimulated by conversation, and to have their opinions listened to and respected - even if not acted upon.

I cannot remember who wrote the old poem called "My Mother," but since it rhymes (who could remember a 'free verse' comment for sixty years?), and has good thoughts and sentiments, it is still embedded in my memory. The last verse is a sort of dedication, sentimental no doubt, and not always practical today. Still, I'm sure it is what you all have in your hearts, regardless of in what manner it is done:

When thou art feeble, old and gray,
'Twill be my turn to by thee stay
And guard thee from all harm, I pray -
My Mother.

In honor of Mothers, don't wait until they are feeble, old and gray to offer them a bit of homage, a day off, a lot of loving, a lot of respect. Do not think she is a worthless slob, if she wants to stay home and look after her own kids, rather than punch an adding machine or whatever. Mothers could teach their kids love, which may or may not ever come out of a Day-Care. (Useful as I think Day-Care may be, in a pinch.) To all Mothers, young or old, I offer this little poem I found. It is called "HOW OLD ARE YOU?", by H.S. Fritsch.

Age is a Quality of mind.
If you have left your dreams behind,
If hope is cold,
If you no longer look ahead,
If your ambitions' fires are dead -
Then you are old.
But if from life you take the best,
If in life you keep the jest,
If love you hold;
No matter how the years go by,
No matter how the birthdays fly -
You are not old.

Happy Mother's Day!

What's news at the library?

Don't forget, Dave Poulsen, "Writer In Residence" for Lakeland College will be the guest speaker at the Writers Group meeting at 7:00 p.m., May 10th at the library.

A warm welcome is extended to Daphne Schnurer, who has been hired as the Program Co-ordinator for the Summer Reading Program for the Elk Point Public Library. Nice to have her back!

Our Librarian, Doreen Mayner, and two board members, Adele Mandryk and Irene Miller, attended the Alberta Library Conference in Jasper April 27 - 30. They came back with lots of new ideas to try in the library, as well as winning a book called "The Guinness Book of Astronomy" by Patrick Moore. This book brings together many facts and data concerning all branches of astronomy. There is a historical section, with biographies of the greatest astronomers; a glossary; and full details of all the planets as well as the Sun, the Moon and other members of the solar system. There is also a catalogue of naked stars, together with lists of interesting objects such as variable stars and star clusters.

A book of local Historical events and pictures of Elk Point Marching Band and Majorettes 1965 - 1983 was compiled and donated by Bandmaster Ron Barwick. Former Band Members and patrons will be interested in browsing through this book. We would like to thank Mr. Barwick very much for this valuable donation.

The week of May 7-13, 1989 is National Forest Week. Come in and see our display of books about our forests.

NEW BOOKS:

"Rainbow In the Mist" by Phyllis Whitney - This is a taunting story of suspense exploring the world of clairvoyance and crystals, sun wheels and secrets at the rainbow's end, and the ultimate earthly struggle between the powers of good and evil.

"Ladybug, Ladybug..." by W.O. Mitchell - This gripping, haunting book ranges from the drama of a six-year-old's birthday party (where the dreaded Duane Cooper makes unexpected use of a garden hose), through the mysteries of scientific measurement of male erotic arousal (Dr. Harbottle's life's work), and through a disastrous University Convocation, ...all the way to madness, violence and death.

"The Magic School Bus At the WaterWorks" by Joanna Cole - A teacher named Ms. Frizzle takes the classroom on a trip to the City Waterworks and shows them how the city gets water, and how they look after it.

"Geraldine's Blanket" by Holly

Keller - When her mother and father insist that Geraldine get rid of her baby blanket, she finds a new way to keep it with her all the time.

To allow all Settlement members a vote on the proposed agreement a referendum will be held on June 10, 1989 with voting taking place on all eight Settlements.

Ready for minor ball season

Over 135 minor ball players, on eleven minor softball, T-ball and minor baseball teams in three levels of softball and four levels of baseball removed the wraps last week for another exciting ball season.

The minor ball program continues to grow in popularity and support reflected by the increase of some 15% in registered players for the 1989 season. This, despite the fact Elk Point will not field Bantam and Midget Baseball teams this season.

The largest growth in the minor ball program has occurred in the minor softball categories where team registration has increased, from 3 teams in 1988, to 5 teams in 1989. It has long been recognized there has been a need in the community for a healthy summer activity for girls. The minor softball program appears to have, in part, addressed this particular need.

Participation in the Lakeland Minor Ball League, of which Elk Point is now a three year member, by the communities of St. Paul and Glendon has reduced the travel required by some local teams. The creation of a north and south division in the Mosquito and Beaver baseball divisions have reduced the 'long road trips' to Cold Lake and Pierceland, which were a concern minor ball parents had expressed to the local Association in past years. Hopefully this trend will continue and extend into the softball division for our next season, an event which parents in Elk Point, I know for a fact, are looking forward to and would warmly welcome.

The minor ball program crams into an eight to nine week time frame, the excitement that softball or baseball can only generate for its players, coaches and spectators. Due to the summer vacation the program comes to an end at the end of June, coinciding with the end of the school term.

The following is a list of 1989 minor ball teams, their coaches and sponsors:

Category	Coaches	Sponsor
T-Ball	Donna Bassett	B & R Transport
Mite Softball (1)	Grant/Charlene Nixon
(2) Kevin Bjornstad/Monique Penz	Donna Kubista/Ron Croteau	Elk Point Minor Ball
Squirt Softball	Ron Petersen	Westmin Resources
Pee Wee Softball (1)	Daphne Schnurer	Empress Family Restaurant
(2)	Barb Anderson
Mite Baseball	Coral Tremblay	E Can Oilfield Services
	Doug Bassett
Mosquito Baseball (1)	Wayne Hymanyk	Denny's Auto Body
(2)	Deb/Ernie Poulin	Elk Point Lions Club
Beaver Baseball	Pat Vincent	Canadian Salt Co. Ltd.
	Phil Sheplaw

Sponsors are still being sought for some of the teams. Any business or community service clubs/organizations who wish to support minor ball and sponsor a team (uniforms are required, equipment is supplied by the minor ball association), can contact either Pat Vincent or Janice Van Maarion to indicate their interest in supporting the minor ball program.

Coaching assistants and umpires are another critical requirement for a successful program. Any parents who have the interest, skills and time to assist in these areas are invited to become and stay involved with minor ball. Remember parents, these are your children who are awaiting your help and support in order to enjoy their involvement in minor ball.

Minor ball teams conclude their seasons at a League Championship Tournament in each of the respective minor ball divisions on the weekend of June 24 and 25, 1989. Elk Point will play host to the Mosquito Baseball League Championship Tournament. Let's hope the new ball diamonds are ready for use by then and we can proudly show them off to the envy of the other communities participating in the Lakeland Minor Ball League.

There is some indication teams are thinking about the possibility of participating in the softball and baseball provincial playoffs this year. As soon as those decisions are made, and it will be made in consultation with your parents, we will be in a position to announce Elk Point's intentions.

Anyone with questions regarding the minor ball program, at any time during the season, are invited to contact either Pat Vincent or Janice Van Maarion.

It is expected that slightly more acres of both these crops and barley will be grown in 1989 than were in 1988, while acres seeded to oats will be down 10 percent, and 15 percent less land will be summerfallowed.

Current soil moisture conditions are fair, with more moisture needed.

Tenth annual concert shows dancers' skills

The skill that earned Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club members a bumper crop of medals, trophies and scholarships in recent competition was demonstrated to a packed hometown crowd Wednesday night, and left not a single observer in doubt that this was, indeed, a very talented group and one of which the entire community could be very proud.

Following an interlude of dulcimer music by John Pankow, Ukrainian Dance Club President Nellie Hillebrand welcomed the audience and told some of the Club's 10 year history.

The concert started with statue-still dancers in a haze of soft blue light, who slowly came to life as the lights brightened, for the traditional dance of welcome, Pryveet, which incorporates the presentation of bread and salt. This dance won the group a silver medal in Prince Albert, and involved all the dancers.

The first solo of the evening was the Lastiwka, with Charissa Brown portraying the graceful motions of a turtle dove.

The Junior Mixed group, Tommy Bayduza, Melodie Bober, Robyn Danyluk, Michelle and Leslie Hillebrand, Kathy Kozina and Christina Sereda, performed the energetic Carpatia, wearing the ornate embroidered vests and handmade slippers of the Hutzul region for this dance which earned a gold medal at Prince Albert.

Soloist Marion Hillebrand, in striped skirt and apron and prim cap, showed the lively steps of the Volynanocnka, which also won her a gold medal in competition.

Another award winning dance was the Dug Kozak, with cossack dancers Sheldon Porcina and Dwayne Vogel doing their most difficult steps in a friendly competition of skills.

The youngest members of the dance group, beginners Charissa Brown, Raegan Croteau, Peter Danyluk, Kenna Hillebrand, Tessa Sakowski and Bryce Sereda, gave the evening a breath of spring with their Bavete.

Intermediate girls Margaret Bayduza, Elena Drobot, Beverley Hillebrand, Lori Porcina and Jodi Vogel displayed quick rhythm synchronizing the movements of heads and feet in the Rachiwshanko, a folk dance of the Transcarpathian region.

Rich velvet vests and beribboned flower headdresses gave a colorful air to the Kozazkok, presented by senior dancers Steven Bayduza, Michael Estey, Marion Hillebrand, Tracy Oryshchuk, Sheldon Porcina, Lynda Shmyr, Dwayne Vogel and Joanne Wolanuk.

Quick steps, fast tempo and the pantomime of chopping down a tree gave the Horianka, a duet by Tommy Bayduza and Leslie Hillebrand originating in the Hutzul region, special appeal.

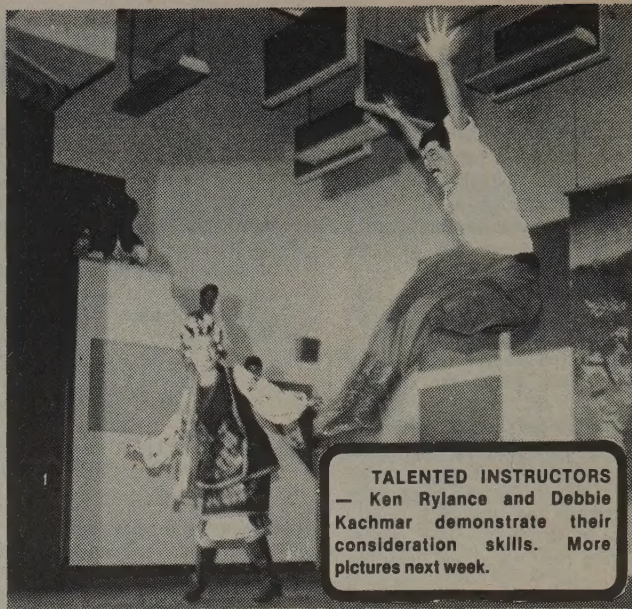

The spins and twirls of the Junior girls, in ribbon bordered scarlet skirts, portrayed the movement of a whirlwind, in the Shumka.

Intermediate and Senior groups combined for the Hutzualka, a dance of the Carpathian Mountains of the western Ukraine which won them a gold medal in Prince Albert.

During a brief intermission, longtime Dance Club supporter Virginia Mudryk was presented with a plaque recognizing her efforts, which have included the making of the Welcome Bread for the annual concerts.

Top raffle ticket salespersons Kathy Kozina and Melanie Bober also received plaques, which were donated by Vogel's UFA. Raffle draw winners were Anne Bandurak, winning commemorative glassware, and Nellie Bayduza of Edmonton, who won a spinning wheel planter donated by Pete Ruzycki.

The high-stepping movements of the Holubar started off the second half of the concert, with the

TALENTED INSTRUCTORS

Senior girls wearing their tall plumed headdresses, the boys wearing caracul caps for this dance of the Bukovainian region.

An entertaining comedy dance by Elena Drobot, as a shyly flirting maiden and Jodi Vogel as a most unusual young cossack with handlebar moustache brought roars of laughter from the audience as the cossack's identity was revealed. The girls won a bronze medal with this dance at Prince Albert.

The Coloveyko, performed by the beginners, was a flirtation dance where the boys and girls took turns showing off their accomplishments which won them a gold medal and a trophy for the highest marks in their age group.

This was followed by the Anoo Poholayemo, a colorful dance by the boys and girls of the Junior group.

Peter Danyluk and Bryce Sereda starred as the young boys of the village in the Povunets, as they played out their fantasy of becoming adventurous cossacks.

A slow and stately Cherevuchku was executed by the Intermediate and Senior girls, their graceful, flowing movements mocking those of the nightingale.

The tempo swiftly changed as the senior boys, in ballooning black pants and scarlet sashes, formed a competition of the numerous squatting steps of the Pidnesenya, a cossack dance.

Duets by Beverley Hillebrand and Margaret Bayduza, in the Kvitochko, and Kenna Hillebrand and Tessa Sakowski, in the sprightly Basket Dance, were much enjoyed by the audience.

One of the highlights of the evening was the first-ever public performance of the newly formed Adult group, Gabrielle Bayduza, Iris Brown, Barb Croteau, Lillian Ewasiuk, Nellie Hillebrand, Joan Palamarek, Lily Pentek, Olga Seniuk, Orest Sereda and Diane Wolanuk. Their determination and hard work throughout the year led them to take part in a lively Kolomeyka, which ended with the presentation by each of the ladies of a rose to their lone cossack, Orest Sereda.

Another special performance was by the Club's extremely talented instructors, Debbie Kachmar and Ken Rylance, with a graceful and high-leaping duet which left the audience enthralled.

Intermediate and Senior dancers completed the concert with their rendition of the Hopok, which won them a gold medal, $200 scholarship and a trophy for the top dance group in the Prince Albert competition.

At the conclusion of the concert, all first year dancers were presented with certificates, and those in subsequent years with plaques, with special recognition given to those dancers graduating from High School this year: Marion Hillebrand, Tracy Oryshchuk and Joanne Wolanuk, and to Dwayne Vogel, who just completed his first year of college.

MLA John Drobot presented the club with an Alberta flag in recognition of their ten years of accomplishments, while Mayor Bruce Kleeberger presented a plaque from the Town's Recreation and Cultural Board. Billie Milholland presented a plaque for the club and individual certificates for the dancers who competed in Prince Albert, on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, in appreciation of the group's outstanding achievements.

Tuning down . . . or out?

The alarm clock shocks you awake. The percolator bubbles your coffee as you crunch your cereal. Cars begin buzzing by your window, carrying people to work. You switch the radio past the static to your favorite station so you can hear the early morning news. The day has begun! And so has the noise. Later there will be the television, the stereo, the blender, the vacuum, the washer.

It's surprising how much noise bounces off you from morning until night. If you once sat down to take a look at the amount of decibels (dB, or units of sound) that penetrate your eardrums each day, you might do what your eardrums would do if they could: shut off.

Probably you would first turn off the rock music (at 90 to 130 dB, it comes close to reaching the 140 dB threshold of pain), then tell the screaming child (90 dB) next door to simmer down, then switch from your electric shaver (85 dB) to a safety razor (safe to the ears as well as the skin), stay out of the rush-hour traffic (75 dB), and quit pushing the vacuum cleaner (70 dB).

Noisy environments are the rule rather than the exception these days. Now, certainly all noise is not dangerous. But loud noise is. And continued exposure to loud noise is.

It is dangerous because it can cause loss of hearing. A person who is continually exposed to noise that is 85 dB (the intensity of the average factory) or more can suffer a permanent hearing loss. It happens because the loud noises overstimulate the mechanisms of the inner ear. The overworked sensory nerve cells wear out - become deadened - and they don't respond to sound.

Neither surgery nor a hearing aid can repair these cells or bring back the person's hearing. The damage is permanent. And the person with this type of loss has difficulty understanding speech that previously could be heard. Speech comes in like a "fuzzy" radio station; it is hard to distinguish one sound from another.

What is to be done? You don't have to SHUT OFF, but you can TUNE DOWN.

Tune down the television, the stereo, and the radio by lowering the volume. Tune down in-car noises in traffic by lowering the radio and, if you can, raising windows. Tune down voices by speaking softly and only when there is not a lot of background noise, such as the dishwasher, the mixer, or the radio. Try to have only one machine running and making noise at a time - run either the vacuum or the radio but not both, for example. And tune down ear damage by wearing sportsman's ear-plugs (available at hardware stores) while shooting or snowmobiling, and protective ear devices while working around and with loud machines.

Ears, voices, and emotions will all benefit from the lowered noise levels. And who knows, maybe if all people do what they can to TUNE DOWN, there will be fewer people finding that they need to TUNE OUT!

For more information on protecting your hearing, contact the Speech-Language Pathologist at the Health Unit.
